ORR PARTNERS ANNOUNCES PROMOTION OF SCOTT SIEGEL AND DAN STROTMAN

Reston, VA (January 1, 2014) – Orr Partners, an industry leader in project management and owner's representation services has announced the promotion of Scott Siegel to President and Dan Strotman to Vice President. "The promotions of Scott and Dan expand the breadth of our senior leadership and will facilitate the growth we anticipate," remarked David Orr, Chairman.

In his new role, Mr. Siegel will be responsible for the operations of the project management business, as well as general corporate responsibilities for the related property management (MacGregor) and inspections (NSBI) companies. "Scott has been a loyal and dedicated employee of the firm for over 17 years," commented Mr. Orr. "During his time with us, he has demonstrated exceptional leadership and vision." Mr. Siegel, with a BS in business from Ithaca College and an MBA from the University of Maryland at College Park, said, "We have positioned our company to take advantage of the next up cycle and strengthened our corporate infrastructure to accommodate expansion of our reach. I look forward to being a part of our next phase of growth."

Mr. Strotman has served as a Project Executive on a number of Orr's larger accounts, and he holds a BS in construction engineering from Iowa State University. "Dan has an exceptionally strong understanding of the entire project and development process. His experience and leadership will be counted on to allow Orr to continue delivering industry leading service to our clients," said Mr. Siegel. In addition to his ongoing role as Project Executive with key clients, Mr. Strotman's new role will expand his corporate planning and management responsibilities. "I am looking forward to the additional challenges that come with my new role and being a part of a very exciting period for our firm," said Mr. Strotman.

Both promotions are effective January 1, 2014.
